Students will learn fundamental techniques such as shading, proportion, texture and value. Students will work with grey scales and create projects experimenting with different mediums including pencil, colored pencil, pastels and watercolors. In this class, there will be a good balance of drawing from imagination and drawing from observation. Drawing from imagination is very important at this age and teaching them a few art concepts that can be applied to their drawings will open their creativity and imagination. We teach drawing from observation and help students to "see" and notice details that will help them to translate it to paper. This class builds confidence and individual creativity in a guided but fun artistic environment.
